

TRAIN TRASH

They have seen the high mountain ranges of California, rolled through the desert lands of New Mexico and paused for a drink in Idaho's rolling hills. They have felt the chill of Oregon nights and sweated under the dry heat of Arizona summer. Each day the tread of passengers, the quicker speeds and the newer lives took a little bit of their strength and their value.

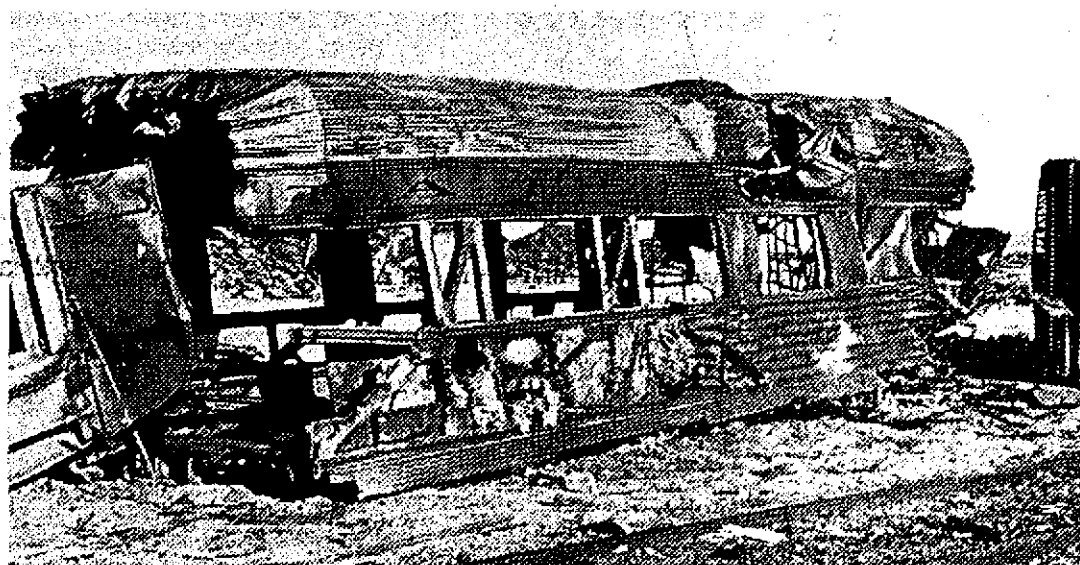

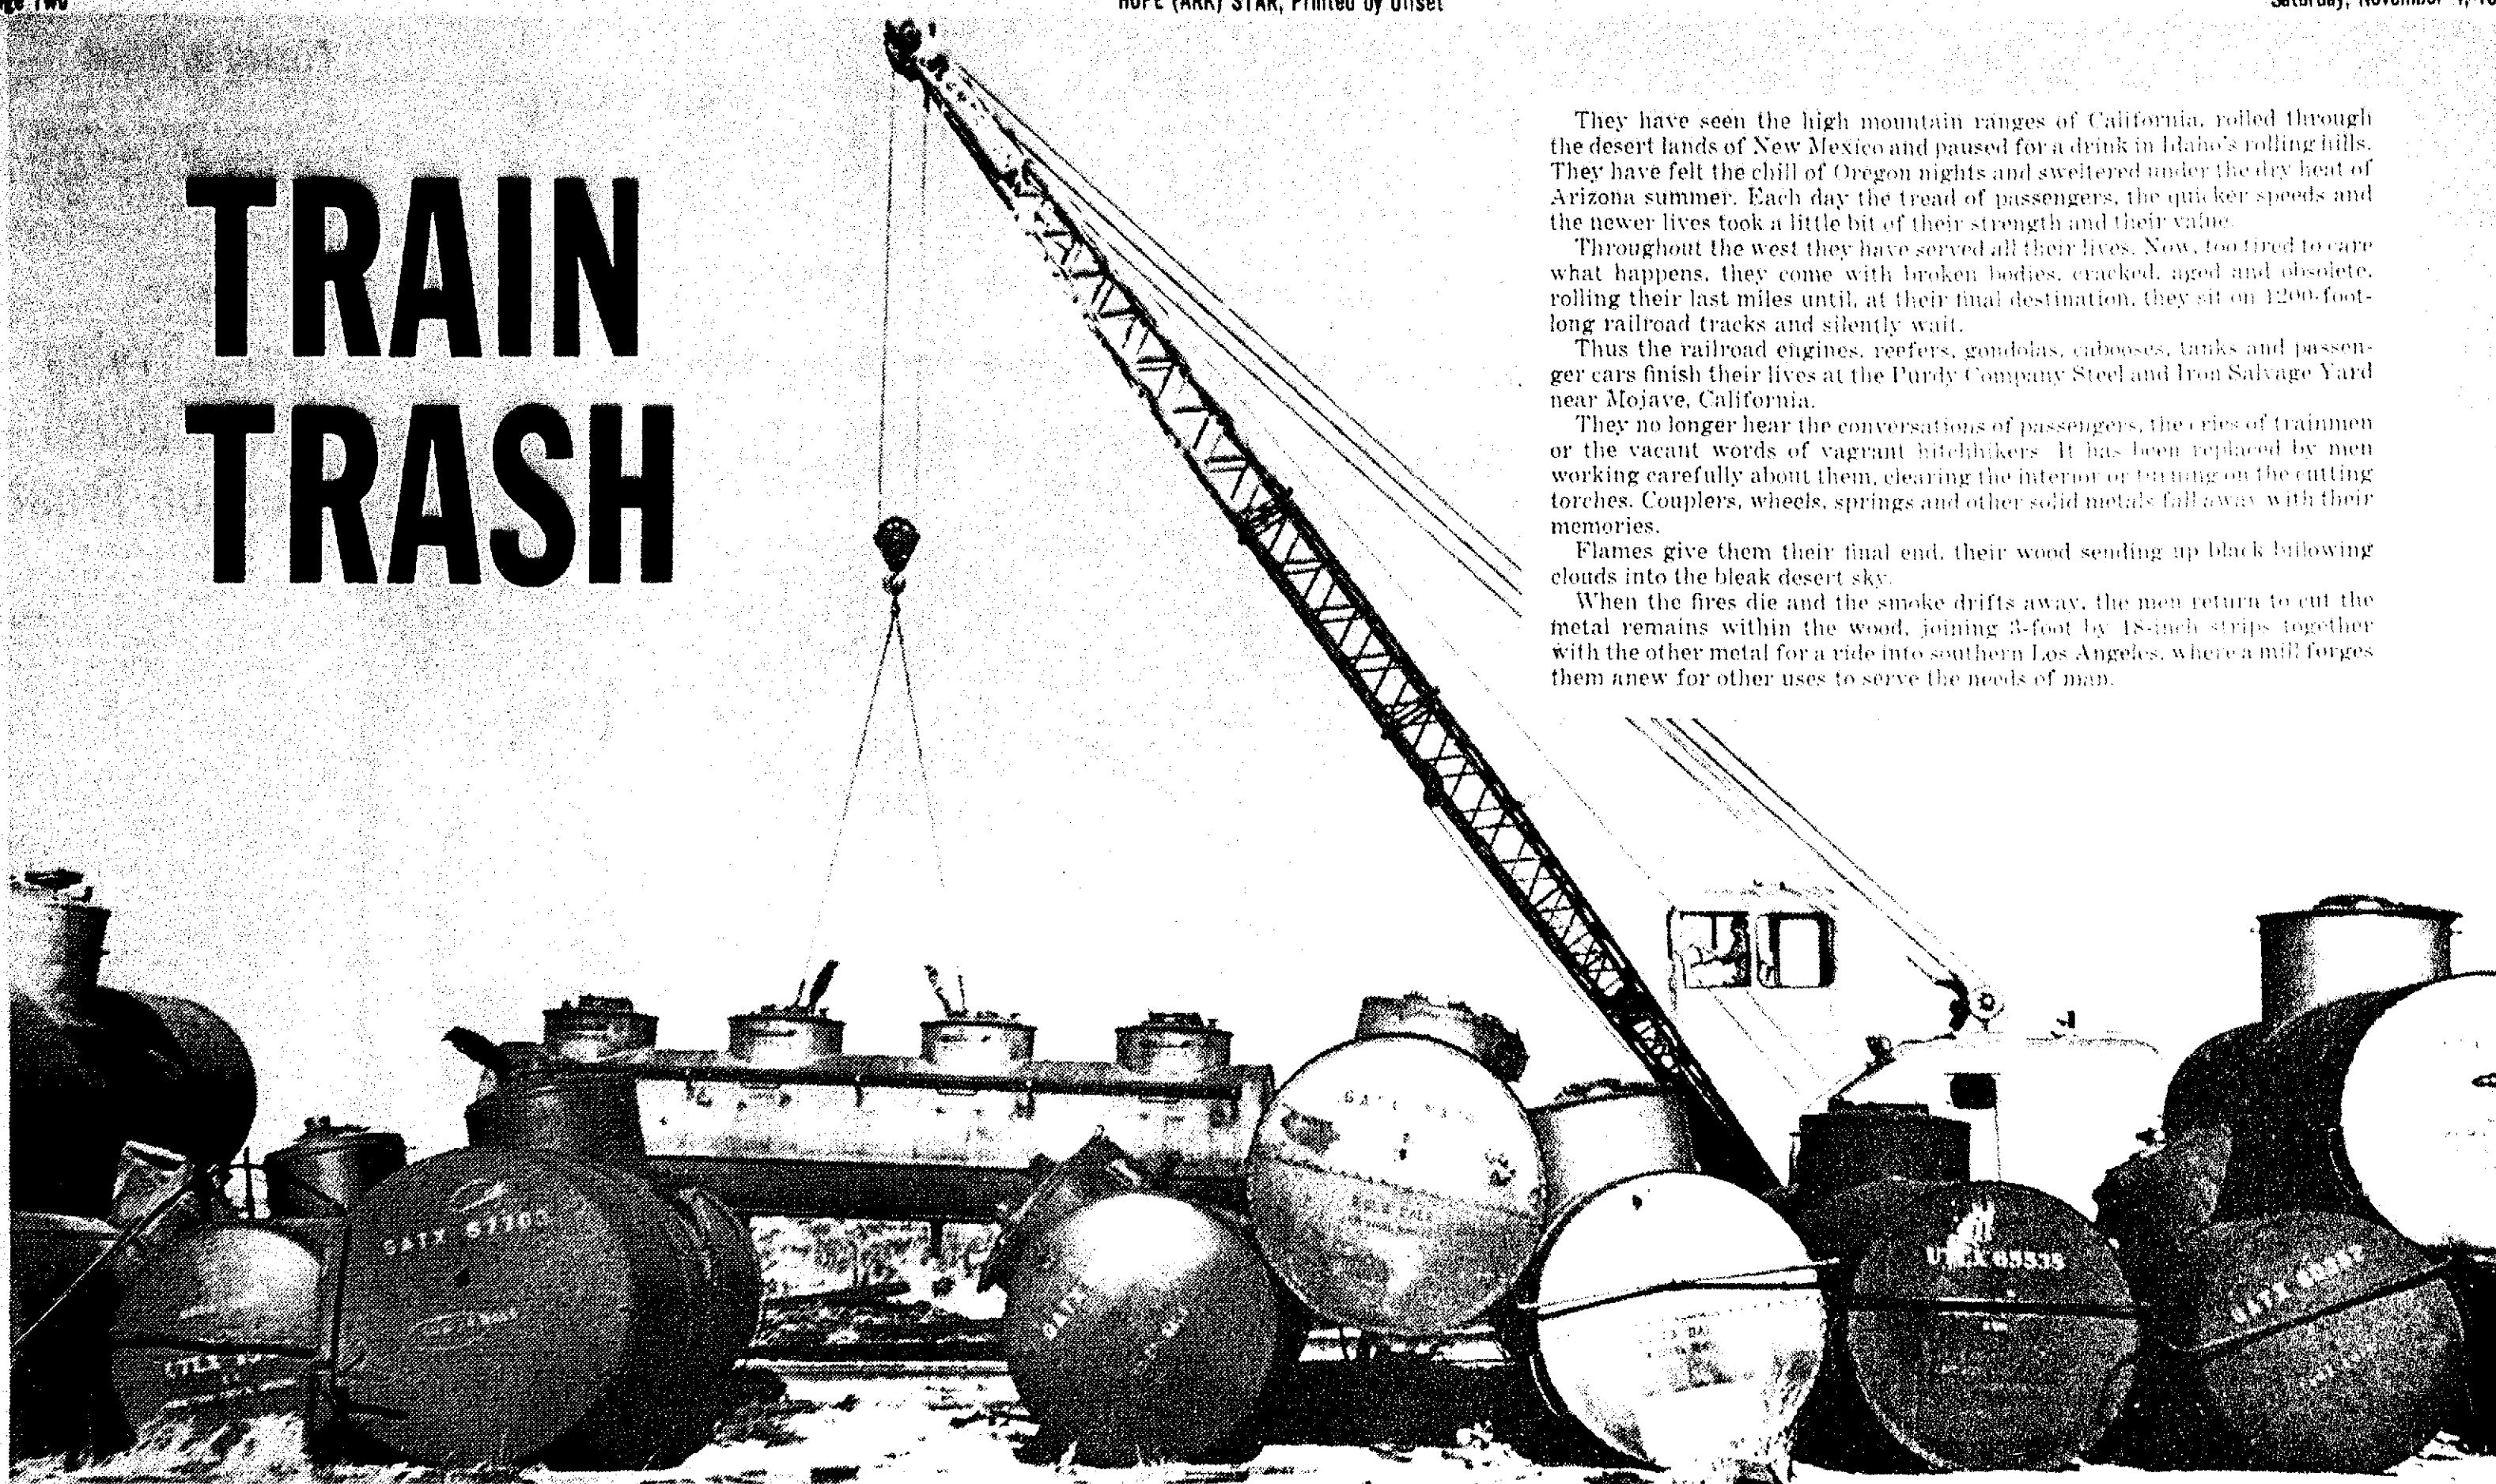

Throughout the west they have served all their lives. Now, too tired to care what happens, they come with broken bodies, cracked, aged and obsolete, rolling their last miles until, at their final destination, they sit on 1200-foot-long railroad tracks and silently wait.

Thus the railroad engines, reefers, gondolas, cabooses, tanks and passenger cars finish their lives at the Purdy Company Steel and Iron Salvage Yard near Mojave, California.

They no longer hear the conversations of passengers, the cries of trainmen or the vacant words of vagrant hitchhikers. It has been replaced by men working carefully about them, clearing the interior or turning on the cutting torches. Couplers, wheels, springs and other solid metals fall away with their memories.

Flames give them their final end, their wood sending up black billowing clouds into the bleak desert sky.

When the fires die and the smoke drifts away, the men return to cut the metal remains within the wood, joining 3-foot by 18-inch strips together with the other metal for a ride into southern Los Angeles, where a mill forges them anew for other uses to serve the needs of man.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—An executive producer of "PBL" says the project was created "to stir things up; to challenge the status quo of both commercial and educational television."

He referred to a weekly series of two-hour current events programs which will be broadcast live over a special network of educational stations. The first of the 25 programs will start Sunday—8:30 p.m. EST—on 119 stations from New York to California.

Pots and Pans Are Important in Kitchen

Since about half of the stations are on ultra high frequency bands which many television sets are as yet unequipped to receive, the program is not expected to make much of a dent in the Nielsen ratings of the commercial networks' Sunday night staples, including "Bonanza" and "The Ed Sullivan Show." It will, nevertheless, have an especially interested audience of commercial network functionaries who have some mixed emotions about the young upstart which proposes to teach the established news departments some lessons.

"PBL," whose initials stand for Public Broadcast Laboratory, functions under a $10-million grant for two years from the Ford Foundation.

Westin and his staff are sailing into the project with, he insists, no sacred cows, no areas they may not touch. Although the producer has decided not to put a spotlight on the safety controversy currently affecting the automobile industry, he says that does not mean the program will ignore its responsibilities in, for example, smog control.

"I assume that when they—the Ford Foundation—gave us our mandate, they knew what we were going to do," he said.

Two stations in the network hook up have asked for "cut-away cues" during the initial broadcast, he said, so they can skip the program's planned "noncommercial" which will be used like station breaks. These will be satires on regular commercials.

"It is just that their board of directors have prohibited commercials on the stations, even our noncommercial," he said, adding that no stations had pulled out for fear of controversy.

The form of the first show will be set finally two days in advance. Since it is election week, Westin said the "big piece" of the two hours will consist of a "confrontation" of hawks and doves in San Francisco debating a city referendum on a Vietnam cease-fire. There will also be pieces on the Cleveland and Boston mayoralty races and in all probability, stories on air safety, the American space program and Egypt-Israel problems.

Yale Eliminates Grade System

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Yale University eliminated the traditional numerical grading system for undergraduates Thursday night.

More than 600 undergraduate professors decided, by a 10 to 1 margin, to put into immediate effect a "pass-fail" grade system for a five-year trial period.

The Yale Daily News, student newspaper, said four categories for grading were adopted—honors, high pass, pass and fail. Also abolished, the News said, were class standings.

Do you have a warped skillet that rocks as pictured at left? It can be restored to use again.

Manufacturers talk to consumers through utensils. What does a beaded edge tell you about the gage of a utensil? Does thickness or thinness of material used in cooking utensils make a difference in the quality of the utensil?

Learn these techniques and facts at a meeting being held for consumers Thursday, November 9, at the District Livestock Show Coliseum. Two meetings are being held for the convenience of homemakers—1:00 till 2:30 p.m. and 7:00 till 9:00 p.m.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

IS IT LOVE?

Dear Helen: How can you tell if it's really love?

I've been going with this boy for two years. I like him very much. But I'm not sure if I love him. He believes he loves me. I don't want to lead him on and hurt him, yet I know it would hurt me badly if I broke up.

Let me tell you about him: He's two years older than I am (20). He's very kind and considerate, especially of me. Everyone likes him. He's dependable, trustworthy and courageous. I think about him every day, even if I don't see him. When I'm with him everything seems so complete—I'm not frightened of anything.

His kisses aren't sensational, but I know he means them. That's what bothers me. When you love someone, aren't all his kisses supposed to thrill you?

Do you think if I'm not in love with him now, could I ever be?—WANTS TO LOVE HIM

Dear WTLH: Of course you could be—if you aren't already. What you describe is the best kind of love. It's not based on wild romanticism, but on good, solid affection. If you enjoy his kisses, the thrills will come later when you're fully waked up to them.—H

Dear Helen: You probably get zillions of letters saying "Please print this!" but as equal time for the "Against S.O.S. (Stamp Out Steadying)" people, it's only fair.

Before S.O.S.ers go knocking the idea of two people going steady, they should at least consider those involved and their capabilities.

I'm 16. He's 18. We've been going steady almost five months. We set our own rules, like: 1. Don't let steadying interfere with school work. 2. Only see each other a few times a week. 3. Each can have nights out—he with the boys, me with the girls—and no questions asked. 4. Definite limits on necking. 5. Mutual permission to date others, but, of course, neither of us do. 6. We'll always be friends, even if we stop going together.

He's a boy in a million, always wanting to make me happy. I try to make him happy too. We don't have to "prove" our love. We know it's there and how lucky we are.

Instead of "Stamp Out Steadying," I think your buttons should read "Stall Off Steadying"—until you're sure.—CAPABLE STEADY

Dear Capable: Actually, that's just what the SOS buttons mean,

Life In Arkansas

As is the case with nearly everything, there were two prominent sides to Daylight Saving Time, which ended last Sunday.

There were those very much in favor of DST and those very much against it. At Harrison, however, there developed another side.

Hugh Henderson dreaded seeing DST end. It wasn't that he liked saving time that much, it was just that he preferred time to stand still.

Henderson is custodian at Harrison Junior High School where, only a few weeks before DST ended, 19 new clocks were hung high on the wall in 19 classrooms.

The clock's hands were adjusted on each to conform with the correct DST. To explain, these individual classroom clocks replaced the old buzzer system at the school, necessitated when Harrison Junior High went on a new schedule this year.

The clocks operate independently of each other and are not controlled by a master clock.

The reason that Henderson jokingly preferred time to stand still is that he faced the job of switching each pair of clock hands in classrooms on two floors of two buildings, the gymnasium and the cafeteria.

The daylight saving program is not a new idea although it was to most Arkansans when it went into effect April 30.

The idea was originated in 1907 in England by William Willett with the publication of a booklet, "The Waste of Daylight." Willett's plan aimed to secure more daylight leisure for recreation and lessen the work performed under artificial light during summer months.

His plan was essentially the same one that went into effect in Arkansas on that last Sunday in April. The clocks were advanced an hour and probably the most disrupting thing was that some folks arrived at church as the preachers pronounced the benediction. It probably would be a safe bet to say that some arrived at church an hour early last Sunday.

and that is why there will be many drop-outs. The motto on the cards reads, "Date many, don't steady—till ready," but I think it should be changed to "MIX NOW, MATCH LATER." For you, "later" has arrived, and I agree you're very capable of handling a happy situation.

Thanks for your good letter.—H

NOTE TO NEW READERS: S.O.S. ("Stamp Out Steadying") buttons—for those who would rather mix than match—can be had by sending 10 cents to HELEN'S S.O.S. CLUB, P. O. Box 8504, Sacramento, California, 95822. Be sure to PRINT your name and address.

The S.O.S. idea is not mine. It was suggested by teens who want to play the field and need help in bucking the system. After about 1,000 asked me to provide buttons, I reluctantly agreed. And the Bottel house hasn't been the same since! Buttons, buttons everywhere, oh how the mails do clink!—H

Can Extradite Dope-smuggler

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Federal Judge C. Clyde Atkins said Thursday the Swiss government can extradite Mrs. Josette Bauer after her trial in Miami Nov. 21 on a dope-smuggling charge.

The Swiss want Mrs. Bauer to finish the two-and-a-half years remaining in her eight-year sentence for being an accessory in her father's murder. She escaped in 1964.

Customs officials have accused her of smuggling heroin into Port Everglades Aug. 31.

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

Teen Heroes Tell Tale: Can you describe a group of people by their heroes and heroines? Will they fall into similar patterns? Does one characteristic characterize all such heroes? Teen sacred cows reveal some interesting facts about the kids themselves.

The very brevity of most of their reigns gives us a clue to teen thinking. They like change and challenge and innovation hence the Beatles' early and continuing popularity. They respond to many forms of one fad—hence, the fantastic abundance of long hairs and rock groups. The weird and macabre fascinates them, just as ghosts or scary stories fascinated them as children. Thus, the far-out acid rock groups command a brief but intense concentration by teens.

They like to identify with ideal stereotypes who represent many of the virtues and assets they strive to have. So Jackie Kennedy's beauty, style and dignity appeal to girls just as thoroughly as do Bobby Kennedy's youthfulness and zeal. Like adults, they set up people to worship. Unlike their parents, they form strong emotional attachments to their heroes.

Just as their adolescent passions for the opposite sex wax and wane, so do their heroic flames. In their search for what they want to be and do, they can find admirable qualities in a diverse assortment of famous or infamous personalities.

So parents can relax when Susie flings herself hysterically at the feet of a musician. Chances are she won't marry him, won't meet him, won't even remember him in half a year.

Service People Resent Teens: Understandable. Tipsters (people relying upon tips for a livelihood) find it hard to understand "why" Young America doesn't tip-to-scale. They resent the no-tip teens and scorn the mini-tip types. Teens are harder and more difficult to intimidate by with the usual waiter driver ploys.

Good reason: They (the teens) are highly discretionary in the allocation of their money. Also the rising cost of living hits hard at their buying power. As a direct result teens are very critical of tipping as a practice. They prefer to pay for their food, product or service without the need to further compensate the direct purveyor.

A recent study revealed that the one-time 5-cent hot dog is now 25 and 30 cents in major air terminals. Traveling teens can't see tipping for plain counter service at these prices. "No tipping" makes sense. Saves time, tempers and will improve attitudes.

A recent teen contributor to TEEN Magazine told of a prize-winning research project. He analyzed his father's hat. Found that the original $14.95 price tag was a deceptively modest beginning to its two-year life. The hat was checked 531 times in a two-year period at 25 cents each ($132.75). (Cleaning and blocking added another $12.50. The wily teen estimated that 80 per cent of the total cost of ownership went to "syndicated checking services." No wonder the hat people are mad, mad, mad.

Living Dolls: New game for jaded teens is Voodoo Doll. Releases all sorts of pent up frustrations.

Teen Buying Power Proved: In a recent druggists' news letter, "hot items" were listed from five major drug stores in U.S. cities. Every item was a teen-consumed goodie: transistor radio batteries, 79-cent hairbrushes, stuffed animals, lunch kits, pierced earring.

The Great J.C. (Johnny Carson): Should appeal to older teens. Despite late hour. Recent skit poked about as much fun at television commercials as it is possible to do. Audience loved it. Statistics show teens dislike dum dum commercials are fiercely loyal to clever or funny ones. Get the hint Madison Avenue?

POWER that sustains may be found thru regular church attendance

Son of man, whenever I doubt of life I think of Thee." So wrote George Matheson in his blindness. Whenever you and I doubt either God or man, we would do well to think of Jesus. His cross is a symbol of what God is and what we may become. The proud Roman at the foot of the cross said, "This man was the son of God." Jesus was supremely a man of faith. He had great faith in both God and man. We have faith in God largely because we must have Him. We are not sufficient unto ourselves. Do you have faith? Life becomes a radiant thing for people of faith, since they see so much deeper into the secrets of life. The universe opens its heart to eyes of faith; closed doors swing ajar when faithful steps approach; loving spirits smile their welcome to trustworthy souls; latent powers blossom in the presence of fidelity; young children and wise old age give themselves with abandon to those who offer confidence. God waits to share His blessings on men who can be trusted. Of the Pilgrims of yesterday, guided by the Divine, it was said, "They were men of faith and very sure of God." Are you sure of God?

You In The Church
The Church In You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH

Oral Examination Guards Against Mouth Cancer

By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.

Last year mouth cancer was responsible for about 4,000 deaths, and for a rate of occurrence of about 40,000 new cases. Too many of these were due to patient neglect. What then, people ask, can they do to avoid becoming a cancer statistic?

To begin with, visit your dentist at regular intervals, at least two to three times a year. And insist on complete examination of your oral cavity—lips, inside of cheeks, area behind molar teeth, floor of mouth, tongue, hard and soft palates—and then your teeth.

Your mouth health is your and your dentist's responsibility. If his inspection is of teeth only and not of the entire oral cavity, then you're not getting your life's worth.

You must be your own doctor, too. Examine your mouth every day. Be alert to slightest changes from normal: Does brushing irritate any part of your mouth? Do you have sore spots anywhere? Are there slightly raised or rough areas, or white or gray patches on lips, tongue, cheeks or palate? Or denture sore spots that won't heal? Do you notice rough, jagged fillings, or edges of dentures? Or anything that just doesn't feel right with the touch of your tongue or finger?

If so, don't walk. Run to your dentist. He has the means of testing mouth lesions to see if they're malignant. Preliminary tests are simple, painless, inexpensive and take only minutes to do. Also, make an effort to eliminate excessive irritants.

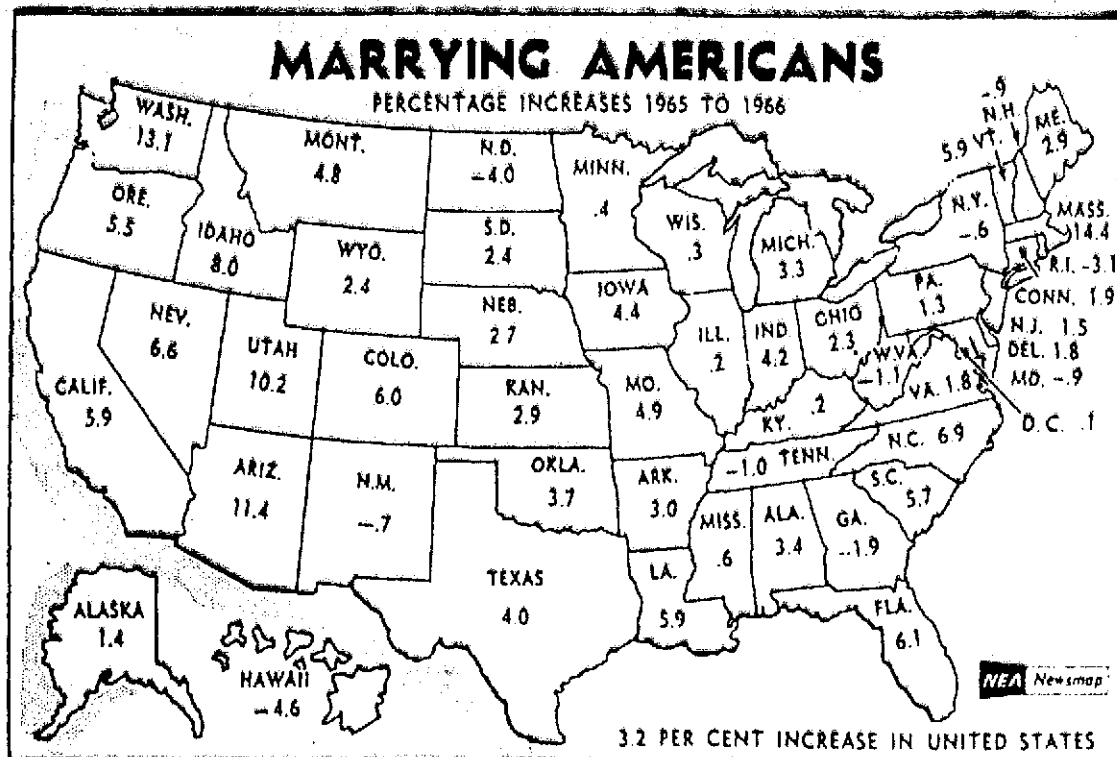

LEGAL NOTICE

In the Chancery Court of Hempstead County, Ark., Mid State Homes, Inc., Plaintiff, vs John Barnes Jr. and Sharon Kaye Barnes, his wife, Defendant, No 9253.

WARNING ORDER
The defendant, John Barnes Jr., and Sharon Kaye Barnes, his wife are warned to appear in this court within thirty days and answer the complaint of the Plaintiff, Mid-State Homes, Inc.
Witness my hand and the seal of said court this 19th day of October 1967.

Clerk

Oct. 21, 28, Nov. 4, 11, 1967

More marriages were registered in the United States during 1966—1,859,000—than in any year since the postwar marriage boom of 1946-7. The total was up 3.2 per cent over 1965 and corresponded to a rate of 9.4 per 1,000 population. Massachusetts showed the greatest increase of any state, up 14.4 per cent, with Arizona, Utah and Washington also up more than 10 per cent.

South's final five club bid was a last ditch effort to play in his partner's suit. North didn't have spades, hearts or diamonds thus his suit had to be clubs. Naturally enough, South expected to find a better club suit in the North hand.

West led the king of clubs. South won in dummy and returned the ten. He covered with the jack but retained the six as an entry. West took his ace of diamonds and shifted to the king of hearts. South won with the ace and played the innocent-looking three of spades. West fell in to the trap and ducked. Dummy won with the eight.

A spade to the ace and another spade followed. West had to play his king. South ruffed high in dummy, entered his hand with the six of trumps and discarded all dummy's red losers on the rest of the spade suit.

The spade play caused a lot of discussion. Most people sympathized with West, but we think that he made a careless play. He wasn't going to get many spade tricks and he should have visualized the possibility that East could not beat dummy's eight.

Extra Point Defeats the Bobcats

BY: RALPH ROUNTON
Star SportsWriter

Seemingly destined to a luckless season, the Hope Bobcats finished their District 4-AA schedule on a low note, falling to the Warren Lumberjacks 7-6 in a thriller last night at Hammons Stadium.

In the opinion of many, the Bobcats played one of their finest games, dominating the statistical battle with much improved offensive blocking and a hardhitting defensive unit. The Bobcats wound up with a 1-6-1 mark in 4-AA, with a 2-7-1 slate overall, with Nashville yet to play. Warren is now 2-4-1 in the conference and 4-5-1 on the season.

Showing a strength with the old off-tackle play to the fullback, the Bobcats stuck to a few running plays while attempting only two passes, none of which were completed. The Lumberjacks' weakness to the off-tackle play was glaring, and throughout the game Hope could make good yardage with that particular play.

On the first possession the Bobcats drove 65 yards to the Warren one, where an apparent touchdown scored by quarterback Larry Massanelli was ruled stopped at the Warren six-inch line. For the entire first half the Cats dominated every phase of play, but were unable to get in a good scoring position again.

Warren's only score came on a 72-yard drive on eight plays in the final two minutes of the first half of play. With only 20 seconds remaining on the clock, quarterback Robert Dew sneaked over from the two for the score. The kick for the PAT was good by Leigh Hargis, and the Bobcats trailed 7-0.

Quickly the Bobcats retaliated, though, taking the second-half kick off and marching 62 yards in nine plays for the TD. All of the yardage came on the ground, with the score coming on a five-yard run by fullback Rodney Jones with 5:05 left in the third quarter. The extra point kick by Dwight Galloway was wide to the left, however, and Warren remained ahead 7-6.

The Lumberjacks finally gained more control of the game in the final period, not allowing Hope inside 40 yards from paydirt, and even earning the privilege of running out the clock. It was a happy victory for the 'Jacks, a frustrating defeat for the Bobcats.

Leading ball-carriers for the Bobcats were Rodney Jones, who rushed 18 times for 86 yards; Jerry McWilliams, who suffered a light concussion in the third period, picked up 65 yards on 13 trips; and Mickey Allen ran the pigskin six times for 33 yards. Allen, Jones, and McWilliams all played fullback last night, and all are juniors. Jerry Maxwell was the head ground-getter for Warren, eating up 53 yards on nine carries. The 'Jacks' big power runner, Leigh Hargis, was held down to 27 yards on 13 carries.

Arterial Street Bond Issue Should Benefit All Streets in End

(Last of three articles)

So you live on a street that won't be improved right away—why should you vote YES in next Tuesday's bond election?

The combined total of the three issues—and however you vote it is important that you vote the same way on all three—is $765,000, nowhere near enough to improve all of Hope's streets at once. So we are proposing to start with an arterial or trunk-line system only. Hope will be crossed north-south and east-west with heavy-duty pavement, curbs and gutters. Is there anything in the future for the citizen living on a residential street untouched by this starting program?

It would seem reasonable today that there is. Once a state government starts building highways there is no end to construction. Arkansas began its highway program with trunk roads. Then it joined up all the county seats with pavement. And now it is building farm-to-market roads—the equivalent of residential streets in a city program.

But the important thing is you do have to make a start. Without a start there's no percentage in your favor, whether city wide or residential local.

That's the issue next Tuesday: Do we start — or don't we?

Here are some factors for the citizen whose local street is omitted from the initial program, to think about:

1. Although the street on which he lives isn't presently included in the construction program he will be using the new arterial streets for most of his journey back and forth from downtown. Furthermore, heavy traffic now scattered over the city will tend to concentrate on the arterial system, relieving wear and tear on residential streets.

2. Construction of the arterial system will save the City maintenance costs on the trunk streets for many years, and this saving can be applied to more work on local streets than is affordable today.

The arterial street system on which you will be voting next Tuesday not only won't interfere with the present neighborhood street program but should help it. Under the neighborhood program any property owner putting up 75 cents per front foot may have his street blacktopped. Or, if he is willing to pay $1.50 per front foot for curb and gutter the City will blacktop his street.

Your editor has been asked some direct questions about the street bond election. A significant one is this:

"What kind of paving will go down on the arterial system? Will it be the type now being applied with the City's slurry machine on residential streets?"

Of course we told our questioner it is usually the practice to build bonded paving to last for at least the life of the bonds, indicating heavy-duty construction. And when I checked with the City government I found this is true of the system you will vote on next Tuesday.

The streets of the arterial system will be 36 feet wide, with a heavy stabilized base, a 2-inch asphalt surface, and curbs and gutters. In addition, the bonds will pay one of the major costs of the entire project — rearranging sewer and water lines, and providing storm sewers, which all of you know are vital in a section that at times has torrential rains.

All this is before you when you vote next Tuesday. It's a monumental job — if we decide to start it. Do we start — or don't we?

Rockefeller Not Upset by Hippies

CLEVELAND (AP) — Arkansas Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller says he isn't upset by hippies and draft card burners because they "comprise only a fraction of one per cent of American youth."

"I have great faith in our youth, and it doesn't scare me at all that they will be running things tomorrow," Rockefeller said at a rotary club meeting here.

He urged the Rotarians to get out among the young people and talk to them because "we have to wake up to the fact that by 1970 half or so of our population will be under 25 years of age."

The Arkansas governor said he was not here to raid industry but added that he did hope to convince local business leaders at an afternoon meeting that "Arkansas is the greatest place in the world for those who plan to expand."

Rockefeller was to have come here by plane Wednesday night but had to land in Columbus because of bad weather. He was driven to Cleveland in a state car provided by Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Finds Many Gas Pumps Cheating

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Weights and Measures Division said Thursday that 11 per cent of the gasoline pumps around the state checked in September gave a faulty reading.

Of 1,468 pumps tested, 158 were rejected because they short-changed the buyer and 43 gave more than the measured amount of fuel.

Arkansans Against Lake Fees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Elimination of entrance fees charged by Army Engineers for use of various recreation areas at federal barge dams and reservoirs was called for Thursday by a House delegation.

The group also opposed an engineer proposal to levy a docking or mooring fee, starting Jan. 1 at the lakes and pools created by the dams.

House members from Arkansas, Texas, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Tennessee, Oklahoma, Wisconsin, Illinois, West Virginia and Missouri were among those who testified or submitted statements supporting a bill to ban entrance fees and the proposed docking fees. The engineers charge fees ranging from 50 cents per visit per individual to $7 for an annual permit good for any recreation area.

Russia Trying to Perfect Space Bomb

By BOB HORTON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some military strategists fear the Soviets' orbital bomb—if indeed they're on the verge of perfecting one—might some day jam them into a sneak nuclear attack.

But defense officials generally discounted the significance of such a space weapon despite the fact that it could pack a warhead with the equivalent of up to three million tons of TNT.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said Friday the Soviets are apparently testing such a weapon. He left open the possibility that the intelligence reports were wrong and that the tests are actually of a nonmilitary nature.

The United States considered developing such a weapon a few years ago but dropped the project, seeing little value in it, McNamara told a news conference.

"I am not concerned," he said. "It does not change the nuclear balance of power."

McNamara said the orbital weapon, which might be operational next year, would be designed to descend suddenly upon American targets.

But he maintained that a new U.S. "over-the-horizon" radar could detect it as quickly as Russian rockets can be detected, that antimissiles could shoot it down and that it probably is very inaccurate.

The defense chief maintained an orbital weapon could not mount a satisfactory attack on U.S. silo-protected missiles, the force designed to discourage an assault in the first place.

But, he acknowledged: "Perhaps the Soviets might feel it could provide a surprise nuclear strike against United States' soft land targets such as bomber bases."

Some officers carried the theory a step further.

During a Cuban-type missile confrontation, they speculated, Russia might be willing to gamble that their orbital weapon plus a growing fleet of long-range missiles could knock out most U.S. rockets and bombers.

Want Military Recruiters Off Campus

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A group of University of Pennsylvania students opposed to the war in Vietnam say they'll resume sit-ins unless the university bars military recruiters from the campus.

The students said they would "adopt further means to prevent such recruitment" unless the university prohibits the armed services from recruiting on campus by 5 p.m., Friday.

The demand was presented Tuesday to the vice provost for student affairs.

The students also demanded the university ban future visits by representatives of the Central Intelligence Agency and the Dow Chemical Co., which manufactures napalm. CIA representatives are due on campus today through Friday and Dow Chemical representatives on Nov. 8.

Mass Slaying Garage Is Coming Down

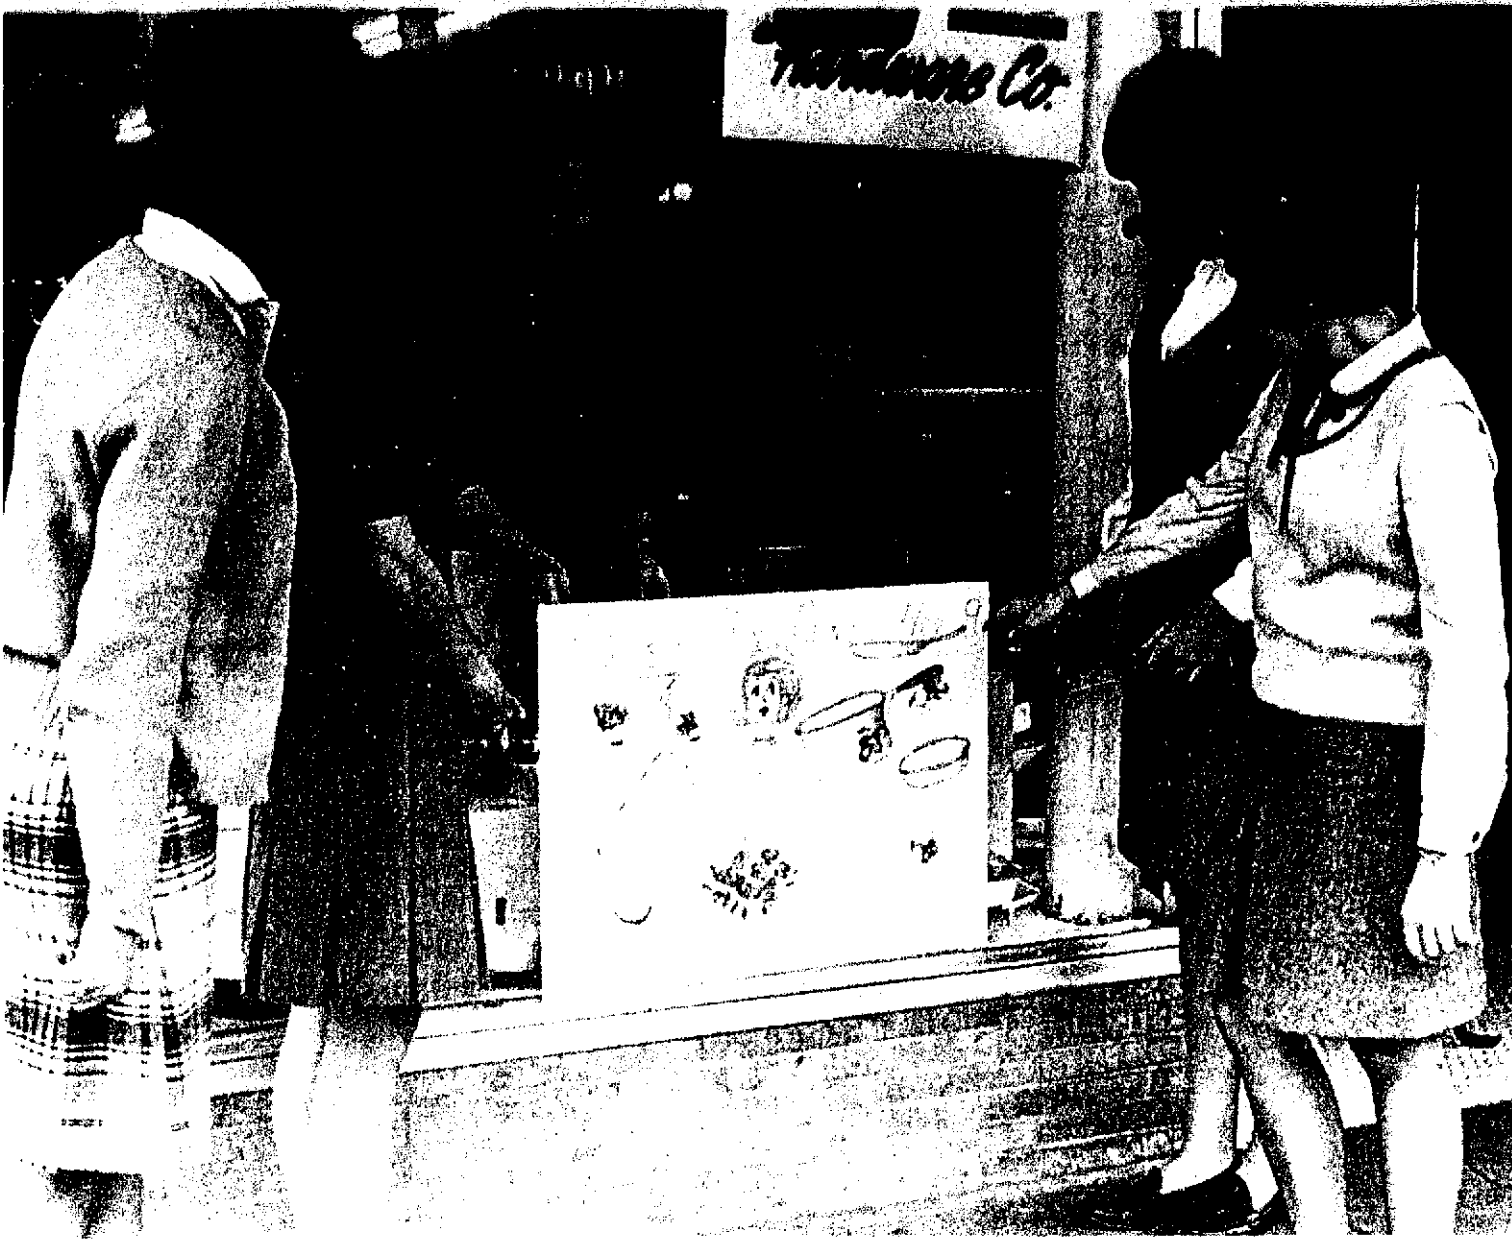

CHICAGO (AP) — A garage on the North side where seven gangsters were assassinated on St. Valentine's Day, 1929, soon will be razed to make way for a home for the elderly.

The brick garage was front-page news when seven of George "Bugs" Moran's men were lined up against a wall inside and cut down by machine gun fire.

The killings were part of rivalry between Moran's and Al Capone's gangs.

Since 1949 the garage has been used by a storage company. The Chicago Housing Authority said Wednesday it will be torn down in the next 10 days and replaced by an apartment building for the elderly.

Cooking Is Important to Any Home

California Wins Fight Against Smog

WASHINGTON (AP) — California has won its fight in Congress to keep on setting stricter smog controls over automobile exhaust: than those the government will prescribe for the rest of the country.

The provision permitting California to go on setting tougher standards for its citizens than the nationwide ones was part of a major national antipollution bill passed by the House on a 362-0 roll call.

The bill carries $428.3 million in new spending authority and broadened federal powers to fight pollution emergencies. A bill that has cleared the Senate authorizes $700 million in spending.

Conflicting provisions will have to be settled by a Senate-House conference committee. But since the California exemption was in both, it is certain to be retained in any final version.

The provision allowing California to exceed the national standards was adopted 152 to 56 in preference to language favored by auto makers that would have prescribed uniform national standards.

The House action marked a victory for California's congressional delegation which argued that the amendment sponsored by Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., and approved by the House Commerce Committee would have made it hard for California to keep its present authority.

McClellan Sickened by Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said Thursday he was "sickened" by testimony Thursday that no one has been punished for a two-day riot at Texas Southern University in which a policeman was killed.

McClellan, after hearing testimony from Houston police that 484 Negroes arrested on the campus were freed without charges, called for a stop to the crime.

"There must be aggressive action to stop this crime wave and this is nothing but crime," McClellan said. "It's kind of sickening when these things happen and nobody gets punished."

Houston police testified the riot started when five members of the militant Student Nonviolent Co-ordinating Committee shouted a false report that a five-year-old girl had been shot.

In many phases of action the average person is advised, "Leave it to the experts." Usually that is the best thing to do. However, there is one occupation which, out of pure necessity, is practiced by almost as many inexperienced people as by "pros." The "field of operation" is most often the kitchen of a house, but on some occasions it is elsewhere. Cooking is the activity of which we speak, armed with little experience, even less knowledge, but an abundance of information from the Agricultural Extension Service.

Elizabeth Ellis, Extension Home Management Specialist, has compiled some helpful facts about cooking utensils, and Dolores McBride, Hempstead County Home Economist, says that further information may be obtained by attending a special meeting on the selection and care of cooking utensils to be held next Thursday, November 9 at the Coliseum in Fair Park from 1 to 2:30 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m.

Stores sell so many attractive kitchen utensils! They come in many materials and designs. Which to buy? That is a real puzzle. Miss Ellis advises, "Before you buy a kitchen utensil ask yourself:

"Is the cost right for the number of times I will use it? Will I use it in many different ways? Does the size suit my family? Do I have storage space for it? Is the utensil of a standard shape and size? Is the material suited to intended use?"

"Are there any sharp edges? Are there hard-to-clean crevices or other problems of care? Can the handle be gripped securely and comfortably? Is the utensil well balanced? Is the size and shape correct for my range? Can the pan be removed from the oven comfortably?"

The answers to these questions will be obvious to you upon examination of the utensil being considered for purchase. But there are other questions that don't have obvious answers, and any cook wants to know why those biscuits turned brown on the bottom before they browned on top, or how do you retain vitamins and minerals so essential to good health by using the right kind of cooking utensil, or if a teflon pan has turned dark, can it be lightened?

We all make mistakes, but a cook is quick to try to correct them because they literally leave a "bad taste in the mouth" in most cases. Through trial and error, lessons are learned about food purchases, but it's more expensive to learn about cooking utensils in that way.

As a result, the opportunity to find out more about the purchase and care of pots and pans should appeal to anyone who, even occasionally, fries a piece of bacon or makes a cake. The Family Living Committee, Hempstead County Development Council, and the Agricultural Extension Service, University of Arkansas, are sponsoring the "pots and pans clinic" at the Coliseum on Thursday, November 9 in two sessions, 1-2:30 p.m. and 7-9 p.m.

Come on out and you, too, can soon be "cooking on the front burner," and this time with success.

Committee of 100 Goal Reached

The Committee of 100, an organization proposed earlier this year by the Chamber of Commerce to provide financial assistance in seeking new industry, is about ready to organize on its own, according to Dr. Lester Sitzes, Chamber of Commerce President.

When this project was first started the Chamber of Commerce Board agreed that at least 35 Hope and Hempstead County citizens should pay $100 into the fund before the organization was officially set up.

This figure has been reached within the past week and an election for a governing body of nine members will be held within the next few days. These nine members will come from those who have paid into the fund and they, in turn will handle the affairs of this new group. This Board will have complete authority on all disbursements from the fund and no person will receive any salary from the fund. Primary use of this money will be to pay expenses of persons calling on industrial prospects.

The organization will not be limited to the present 35 members, but will be open to any citizen who wishes to belong to this group. The Hope Water & Light Commission has voted to match these funds up to $5,000.00 which will mean that a $100.00 membership will actually be worth $200.00 up to 50 members. Following is a list of the present members: Mr. and Mrs. Lester Huckabee, E. P. Young, Jr., Arch Wylie, Forrest Singleton, Herbert Burns, Fred Ellis, Leonard Ellis, Dr. Sam Strong, Dr. Jon Leim, Dr. Lester Sitzes, Harrell Collier, Henry Haynes, C. C. Lewis, Robert LaGrone, Tom Ed Hays, Jewel Moore, John B. Lowe, Ainsley Gilbert, Harold Hendrix, Roy Anderson, George Frazier, Ralph Lehman, Hubert Thrash, William E. Tolleson, Dr. Don Freely, Harry Cagle, Ray Turner, Talbot Field, Arthur Strech, Frank McLarty, Ambrose Robinson, Vincent Foster, Raymond Byers, James Pilkinton and Dr. Jim McKenzie.

2-Year Driver Licenses Out

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Some 385,000 Arkansans should receive their two-year driver licenses from the state Revenue Department today.

Revenue Commissioner B. Bryan Larey said the new licenses, issued under a law passed by the 1967 legislature, are on IBM-like cards and that State Police would be able to receive information on any driver license within seconds.

Roystons in Illinois for Dads Day

GODFREY, ILL. — Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Royston, Jr., Hope were among the 500 parents participating in the annual Dads Weekend at Monticello College, in Godfrey, Illinois. While on campus, Mr. and Mrs. Royston visited their daughter Marjorie who is a first-year student at Monticello. Dads Weekend was observed at the two-year women's college with a series of special events honoring dads and daughters.

Parents were encouraged to visit their daughter's classes on Friday afternoon. Following dinner, parents attended the Monticello drama department's production of "Trojan Women". A reception after the play enabled parents to meet students, faculty and administrative staff.

Church Group in Meeting

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP) — About 750 messengers of the Arkansas Association of Missionary Baptist Churches met here Thursday selected Magnolia as the site of their 1968 meeting.

The messengers heard a report Thursday from missionaries from the Texarkana Baptist Orphanage and from the Missouri Baptist Student Fellowship.

Cong Trying to Establish Second Front

By PETER ARNETT
Associated Press Writer

LOC NINH, Vietnam (AP) — The Communists may be trying to establish a "second front" in Vietnam with their drawn out military offensive in the rubber-growing district of Loc Ninh, which faces the Cambodian frontier.

That is the consensus of many military observers. They are beginning to discount the initial theory that the Communists were merely seeking a quick propaganda victory when they began to attack this isolated district headquarters last weekend.

Like the demilitarized zone, the "first front" of the Vietnam war, Loc Ninh is in a remote region with terrain favorable to the enemy, and a sanctuary nearby, this time in Cambodia.

The North Vietnamese have succeeded in sucking a whole U.S. Marine Division into a holding action along the DMZ, pounding forward Leatherneck outposts daily with mortars and artillery.

Almost as many U.S. infantry men will be committed to Loc Ninh if the battle continues much longer. Already, five U.S. battalions are deployed in the area.

U.S. intelligence officers find prisoners and documents captured so far give conflicting assessments of the enemy aims.

One group of prisoners said their mission was to "take Loc Ninh at any cost." Another group said their mission was to "engage Americans in battle." A third said the Loc Ninh battles heralded the beginning of a "winter-spring offensive."

Whatever the true reason, the Communists have shown unusual tenacity and determination around Loc Ninh.

Paths Have Crossed Many Times

JACKSONVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Lt. Col. Kermit W. Andrus passed command of Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron 365 to a high school buddy, Maj. Richard M. Cooke, Tuesday at New River Marine air facility.

Andrus and Cooke have seen their paths cross several times since they became friends 20 years ago at high school in Lakewood, N.Y., and enlisted in the Marine Corps in the early 50s.

Although Andrus gave up his command Tuesday to Cooke, the two men won't be separated. Andrus moves across the air strip to become a staff member with Marine Aircraft Group 26.

Just Wanted to Shake Son's Hand

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Henry Glenn was told several weeks ago that he should undergo surgery for the removal of his right arm because of cancer. "Not until after Wednesday, Nov. 1," he said. "I have a feeling that my son will be home."

His son, David, telephoned Tuesday night from San Francisco that he was on route home from Vietnam on a brief leave.

Father and son met at Charlotte's airport Wednesday—Nov. 1—and their hands gripped. "That's what I wanted," said the elder Glenn. "I wanted to shake hands with my son."

49.6 Per Cent for Rockefeller

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — More than 49 per cent of the persons who responded to a television poll Thursday night said they approved of the administration of Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller. The question was: "Are you satisfied with the Rockefeller administration?"

A spokesman for station KATV said, 4,008 persons responded and that 1,986, or 49.6 per cent, said they were satisfied with the Rockefeller administration. The other 2,022 said they were not.
